Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivided, and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it

LICENSING ANOMALIES.

It is not often that we feel disposed to question the decisions of the Bench. There are occasions, however, when the public in-terests demand such scrutiny at the hands of the press. When it is found that by any particular course of action of the magistrates, injustice is likely to be meted out to individuals, and the prosperity of a community interfered with, it is fully time that the evil should receive a corrective. Some months ago an application was made to the Bench of magistrates for a hotel license. An expen sive building had been constructed, the applicant satisfied the magistrates as to his character and the necessity for the accommodation; but the license was refused on the rather extraordinary ground that a protest had been made to the effect that the building encroached on a right-of-way. How this ques tion should affect the granting of a license is one of those legal subtleties which only Vancouver Island Attorney General might be supposed to grasp; we could never fancy, in the absence of this powerful auxiliary that the profundity of the magisterial Benc would enable it to so thoroughly comprehend the connection. The next case we may illustrate as follows: A applies at the regular annual Court for a license for a well-known hotel in the city, formerly occupied by B, a bankrupt, and is told to apply again at the next Court, that the Bench may know something of the circumstances connected with the application. On appearing before the Court a second time, he is informed that as B owed the Govern-ment when he failed, two quarters' license money, (which through the laches of those charged with the collection, had been allowed to fall into arrears) and as the house is licenred, and not the individual, unless he. (A) is prepared to make good those arrears, he can not have the license. The gist of all of which is that as the Government has lost, through its own neglect, half a year's license, the first applicant must pay the deficit. There is comething ingenious in this method of doing business, and we recommend it to commercial men generally. What a blissful system of trade to compel all solvent customers to pay the liabilities of those who are insolvent.

The next case is, perhaps, the most grievous of the three. A man wishes to know it he will obtain a license for a hotel which he is about to build, and the plans of which he lays before the Bench. The magistrates inform him, however, that they cannot take the matter into consideration until the house is built. The applicant goes to work and erects the building, and again appears before the Bench for a license; when (the great legal authority informing the Bench that the house stands on disputed property) he is told that as there is already sufficient hotel accommodation in the neighborhood in which he intend ed doing business, his application must be rejected. Now the injustice of the affair is palpable. The Bench were in a position to know whether a second hotel was required or not, when the man made his first application. They must have known also, afterwards, that the house was in course of erection, and that their decision might be probably ruinous to a person whose only offence was believing that the magistrates would not, by the tenor of their language, induce him to go to the expense of building a hotel if they were determined on refusing his application. We are not desirous of any unhealthy increase to our number of hotels, nor do we hold with the policy of drawing public revenue from private vices; but we are anxious to see even in our Licensing Court some thing like rational decisions. We do not be lieve that the welfare of the community is consulted in such decisions as the foregoing; nor do we think that private interests are very judiciously cared for. That the Bench can, by carrying out the strict letter of the law, throw legally sufficient obstacles in the way to prevent any increase to our hotel accommodations is quite true. But summum jus summa injuria. There is a medium in all things, and the large discretionary powers which our magistrates possess in their Licensing Court should be exercised liberally in a new country like Vancouver Island, where the policy should be rather to retain population than drive it gradually away. We have no desire to see a single hotel or public-house added to the large number we have at present, unless there is a necessity for the increase; but we think that a great deal of anxiety and expense might be spared individuals, if the magistrates would only relax a little in their austerity, and decide more on the merits of the application than on outside issues; such individual cases of hardships as we have just narrated, would not, at all events, be so liable to occur.

4 Patent Cow Milking Machines; The Patent Cow-Milker in the International Exhibition.

We seem quickly to be losing the poetry of rustic life. The mower is no longer required at the sythe, nor the reaper at the sickle; that hen figure at the barn-door, swinging to the masic of the flail is gone; the whistle of the ploughboy is gradually dying in the distance; and now we are called upon to dismiss the ruddy mikmaid. A machine has been invented for milking cows, and is now on exhibition in the United States' department of the International Exhibition. The teats of the cow just drop into four elastic tabes placed under them in communication with an exhaust apparatus and a reservoir. The quick movement of two handes creates a vacuum, and the udder instantaneously compiled of its contents in four continuous streams. While the operation is discussingly practical, it is very cleanly, and, we believe, agreeable to the cow. The milk is withdrawn at the rate of a gallon a minute. The patent of the "cow-rilker" has been sold to Watkins and Keene, of Birningham, [or £5,000, and a royalty to the original inventors; and it is stated that the firm have always received. national Exhibition. and Keene, of Birmingham, for £5,000, and a royalty to the original inventors; and it is stated that the firm have already received orders sufficient to cover the expenses of the patent, and hat the machine is rapidly bring adopted by all he great dairymen throughout the country rize medal and honorable. he great dairymen throughout the country. Capt. Nelson says that quite an exciting race took place between the fleet but the Monitor was too fleet for them all.

GOLD STREAM.

EDITOR BRITISH COLORIST,—A man is often cried up by one half the world and down by the other. Give him time he will shake off many of his friends and live down his encmies. Gold Stream is at present in that see-saw condition. It is suffering from the over zealousness of its friends and the ignorant Lightning Creek.

The Dutch Co. and the Sigel Co. were taking out good pay.
Evans and Anderson hoped to get in their ditch by the first of the moath.

The Butcher Co. were suffering from want of water, but rain was beginning to fall when our informants left. It is believed that Lightning Creek will yield largely this year.

LICENSING COURT.

[BEFORE A. F. PENBERTON, THOS. HARRIE AND A. C. ANDERSON, ESGA, JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.]

Gold Stream is more suggestive of a district than of the run of water bearing that a mane. This mountainous district is about three miles square, bounded on one side by streams (of which Gold Stream is one) that have cut their channels through the hard slate rock that abounds everywhere in the neighborhood. There is but little depth of soil anywhere, in some places none at all; but generally a plentiful supply of good timber, at least more than is sufficient for the operations of the miner. In searching in the mountains and along the channels of the streams I could discover nothing but slate, rock mixed with soams of quartz, although rock mixed with soams of quartz, although there are immense granite boulders and boul ders of other descriptions which must have been brought a considerable distance from the

the late lessee, who had failed in business, and the Bench held that it would not be dealing fairly by other licensed houses if the six months' arrears were not first paid. The license, was accordingly refused at present, the leave being granted to the applicant to renew his application at the next monthly.

**Court.**

**Mr. Wm. Lusch renewed his application, through Mr. Copland, for a license for the recent building creeted by him at great expense on the confines of the Park. Mr. Harris was of opinion that the applicant was entitled to a license. The rest of the Bench held that such a house was not wanted nor desirable, and the application was accordingly refused.

**A. Newell applied for a license of the above establishment. Serjeant Wilmer stated that the house was situated so near the water that the house was situated so near the water that the house was situated so near the water that the house was situated so near the water that the fine with Indians could not be guarded as against, and applicant had in his service a notorious whisky seller. He had also made be imported cleaper than they could be disparited to the quartz, and the chafing of the quartz boulders as they were carried about the district. It therefore appears that if the miner wants to be postponed for a month, and in the meantine, the applicant would have an optorious, the proposed form parties to whom he was known. and but a small minority have shown anymown.

ROYAL HOTEL TAP.

The application of Fredk. Payne was oposed by Mr. Elliott, as one of the assignees if Robinson, and by Mr. Copland, for Mrs.
Vilcox. It appeared that it was a case of sputed tenancy, and the Bench reserved its agriculture, us what has been done there mining. The American, the Britannia and the Kennedy are the only companies now at work—the "Gould and Curry" have, I unwork—the "Gould and Curry" have, I understand, suspended operations for a day or two only. It is impossible for me to describe the amount of work done by all those who have been upon the place, neither is it necessary. The quartz veins all run E by N., and S. by W., and go where you will these veins do not vary much in appearance. I have seen quartz in this town, said to have come from Goldstream, and no doubt it did come from there—but tell me where—give me one man who can drill a hole and put in a blast—let the shaft or turnerbe to ourselves, a blast-let the shaft or turnel be to ourselves, and if we produce auriforous quartz, even approaching this advertising stull, I will be heve it, but not till then. Mind, I am not opposed the application in vehement terms, and stated that he had presented a petition to appeal the order of His Honor to the Privy Council. His Honor expressed great surprise that the atterney for the plaintiff should have set down the cause in spite of the order staying proceedings, and ordered the Registrar of the Court to strike it out from the list. Mr. Carry magnanimously took upon himself the blame of all that had bean done by Mr. Bishop, the atterney in the case, and expressed his feelings of disapprobation in violent and unmeasured language.

Jury case.—Thomas Harris ex. McKnight and McCaustand.—Mr. Carry, instructed by Mr. Bishop, appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. McCraight instructed by Mr. Copland, for defendants and their servants whilst working on the mill of the late firm of Christian & Zadetsky. The defence set up was that the defendants did not know the plaintiff in the matter, and that the amount for batcher's meet was charged them by Christian & Zadetsky in the lumber account as they the defendants had a courtact with the error work. ### THE NANAIMIAN GAMES,

A POEM. AFTER NÆVIUS (RATTHER)

BY J. J. L. Bric Pockus, of Nanaimo,
By the nine Gods he swore
That the ancient games of Naimo
Should not be wanting more;
By the nine Gods he swore It,
And named a meeting day,
And bade his messengers ride forth
To East and West, and South and North,
To summon all to play.

Then was held a council, standing Within the Frenchman's gate; Good liquors there, ye well may guess—Aids for musing or debate. And out spake Peckus roundly: "The wickets must go down, Washe with the spake peckus promotes the well-benefit of the wickets must go down, have so degenerated, t naught else can save the town."

"To drinking and to gambling, Have apread our youthful bands— Nor sheep, nor pig, nor goatling Escape their ruthless hands—* And tho 'I've often led the van In these, their vile misdeeds, Yet now I'm under strongest ban, And ho've sworn to't by the beads."

Then up and spake Fowlerius, Well spoken. Eric Peckus, Come, out with it again; Ere I see again Comiaken, Or reach Cowichan Plain, I'll taste a cup of wine with thee, And we'll drink it 'tween us twain.

Came Cooperius from Incline side, Came Torperius from his store, And Huntleius with fatted calf, And Jarvieus with more. Came cach arrayed in costly stuff, Shewing their graceful forms, Aad astonishing the matrons With the beauty of their charms. But first in all the motley throng,

Augustus Huntleius stood, And "scratched" and gently turned are Adjusting helm and hood— And then a careful eye he turned On the trappings of his legs, With white, and gold, and purple trimmed: I ween right proper bags. For all the Nanaimian maidens yere ranges unestain in eye,

And many a portly metron
For Huntleius gave a sigh.
Franklinius too, dictator,
Viewed with approving glance
The merry throug that gathered there,
Like the heroes of romance. Big Wightus, of the Roundheads, And sick-eyed Crosbius too, Stood round the crease and tried to Their smiles were but "so so." But Goodius the Augur, Like a Roman true, came out And played a gamo with fervor, With many a merry shout.

Platine and Wignallins
Were there upon the field;
Farlesius, too, and Fernerius,
Right well their arms did wield—
But of all they who were with us,
None could say which one did yield.
When out spake bold Pujolius:
A Gallian proud was here,
Come all this way, my jolly boys!
And have a glass of beer.

"Pujolius," quoth the Peckus,
"As thou sayest, so let it be;"
And in his don they plunged then,
To drink deep of his "tea"—
Chain-lightning, whisky, brandy,
Passed round from hand to hand:
Cared they not what sort of stuff it
Looked they not at the brand.

And Price-ius Parrissimus
Made loud and boastful din;
Spoke much of byes and shouting,
And declared them both a sin.
Gave free advice to members,
Per which no one had asked—
And then declared quite jauntily,
That his strength was overtasked.

Round then, the bowl did pass, And round, and round, again; Till each had tossed his glass From the churl unto the Thane. Quaffed they the cup right cheerily, Quaffed, as they were insane; Round went the song right merrily, And all filled up amain.

Sebastianus, Major, he of the golden ear, Went forth unto the Indians, To speak and make them hoar, The made all his "derangements," † And gave "destructions" there, That the ground used for the "crickets" Should to the Hancho be near.

And now the games of Niamo Have taken a firm stand, And naught but jolity prevails, All through this coally land Thanks, then, unto Franklinius, Dictator wise and bold; And thanks to Goodius, Augur, Who nath not yet grown old.

INFORMATION WANTED AT THIS office of THOMAS CLENGIAN, formerly o Wooster, Ohio, and lately of Cariboo.

APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC OF VICTORIA

THE RECENT MASSACRE BY Indians of Mr. Waddington's working parties on the Bute Inlet Trail is, of course, fresh is the minds of this community, but it may not be generally known that its result, besizes the said destruction of human life, involves an almost ruinous pecuniary loss to Mr. Waddington, in the pillage of his stores, &c., as well as the stoppage of the work on the trail, which at the time of the melanchely event had so nearly approached completion, that but for the unlooked tor interruption the trail would, in all probability, by this time have been opened as far as Benshee Lake on the Bentinck Arm trail to Alexa-dria, and would have been realizing at least a small return on the large bean realizing at least a small return on the large capital expended upon it.

The fact that the Bute Inlet trail when opened capital expended upon it.

The fact that the Bute Inlet trail when opened would divert a large portion of the freight for the Upper Country and mining districts of British Columbia from the Faser Riverroute, has no doubt excited the jealousy and active opposition of the inhabitants of New Westminster, and has led the rejection by the British Columbian authorities of Mri. Waddington's respectful, and as he believes justly founded claim on the Government for the destruction of his property; and reduces him to the necessity of appealing to the people of Vancouver Island for aid to complete this important public undertaking on which he has expended so large an amount of his private means that he is unsole to furnish the comparatively small stun required for that purpose, in default of which he mast necessarily abandon the enterprise and sacrifice all the capital already invested in it.

It is universally admitted that the Bute Inlet trail would be the shortest, cheapest, and best paying to the Upper Country and mining districts of British Columbia, and as there are now animals, implements, tools, and six weeks provisions for at least twenty-five men on the ground, it is estimated that it can be opened as far as Benshe Lake ('rom whence the Hudson Bay Company have engaged to establish a communication to Alexandria) in the course of three months at furthest, at a further outlay of $5,000, of which it is confidently believed that the people of Caribon will gladly subscribe a portion, and it is proposed to raise the amount by public subscription, in any sums that may suit the good will toward the enterprise, and the means of the subscription, in any sums that may suit the good will toward the enterprise, and the means of the subscription, in any sums that may suit the good will toward the enterprise, and the means of the subscription, in any sums that may suit the good will toward the enterprise, and the means of the subscription, in any sums that may suit the good will toward the enterprise, and the means of the subsc
